Harvesting a Better America

Rabbed my eyes yesterday when I saw Nap Jackson's truck in Biff Marsh's field. I know Nap ... helping Biff get in his cotton.

Since they've been carrying on a friendly argument for years (over how much fertilizer to use per acre of alfalfa), I had to ask Nap, "What are you doing?"

"Get my truck in," he says. "And since Biff's boy is at the summer encampment of the National Guard, I figured the least I could do was to help him out. After all?" Nap went on, "There's no argument."

There have been to date two alerts, one on July 11-12 lasting from 6 am on Saturday, July 11 to Sunday, July 12 at 4 pm; the other on August 2 from 1 pm to 4 pm.

Ninety persons have signed up in the Lake Harbor Ground Observer's Corps. Twenty-five have taken part in one or both alerts and have been awarded the "wings" which they have earned by this volunteer service for their country.

The station is located at present at the home of Mrs. Larick, but they are working toward the erection of a tower with telephone facilities to enable them to do a really worthwhile job.

The ground observer work done by volunteers during the submarine attacks on the Florida coast and continuing now in the War. It enabled the armed forces to detect any enemy planes flying for observation over continental United States. Stations were so located that any plane was constantly under surveillance from the time it left the ground until it returned; making it impossible for any unauthorized air craft to remain long undetected.

The Ground Observers now being organized and serving as members of the corps are doing a far more important work since with present day long range planes
